

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

DEAR FRIENDS,

Scripture reminds us to "grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ" (2 Peter 3:18). This is the very journey we see our teens walking. Every day at Hope Harbor, we see growth in ways that are both small and profound. We see it in the moments when a teen chooses honesty over hiding, courage over fear, or forgiveness over anger. We see it when they pray for one another, when they ask questions about purpose, when they begin to believe that their story is not defined by what they've experienced but by the hope set before them. Their growth is a reminder that healing is not just physical or emotional — it is deeply spiritual.

Your partnership makes this possible. Because of you, teens who once felt unseen now experience belonging. Teens who carried shame now learn they are valued. Teens who doubted their worth now begin to understand that they were created with intention, loved by God, and capable of a future far greater than their past.

Thank you for standing with us as we walk with at-risk teens. Thank you for believing in their potential, praying for their journey, and helping create a place where transformation takes root. The growth we witness is real and beautiful—and you are part of every step.

With gratitude,

Bryan Crain
President and CEO

Mission
Providing a home for teens in crisis, transforming lives, and strengthening families.

Vision
Hope Harbor's vision is to provide at-risk teens comprehensive services that include homeless prevention, academic success and college readiness, drug and alcohol prevention, and mental health care to ensure long-term success.

If your teen or someone you know needs help,
Hope Harbor offers a safe place for healing, restoration, and reunification.

HOPE HARBOR

FY2026 ANNUAL REPORT

A HAVEN OF HOPE FOR TEENS

HAZEL'S STORY

Before Hazel walked through the doors of Hope Harbor, her faith felt like a roller coaster that was out of control. When life was calm, she praised God easily. But when her family was living on the streets, trusting God felt complicated, and she questioned whether God was listening at all.

Everything shifted the day she arrived at Hope Harbor. She sensed that Sea Glass could be where she finally connected with God in a personal, real way. The staff's warmth, the way they cared for the girls, the way they made her and her sister feel safe — it all felt like God's love wrapped in human form.

While living at Hope Harbor, Hazel began working through a devotional series called "Design for Discipleship," attended youth group and church weekly, and sought spiritual guidance from staff and volunteers. For the first time, she saw the Bible not as scattered verses but as one story—God's story — and a guide for her own life. Hazel said, "I see God's love through the staff who are patient and gentle. They have shown me what it looks like to walk through hard things with faith, rather than fear."

Over time, Hazel's relationship with Christ deepened in ways she never expected. She began to understand who Jesus is and what He endured for her. She learned to pray with honesty and depth, bringing God her joy, her anger, her sadness, and finding peace in the presence of a God who never stopped listening. Now, as Hazel looks toward the future, she hopes her relationship with Christ continues to grow in obedience and trust. She wants to hear God's voice clearly and follow without falling into self-doubt.

Hazel's story is no longer a roller coaster of fear and uncertainty. It is a story of belonging and discovering that God was always pursuing her. And now, with a faith that is truly her own, she walks forward with hope, courage, and a heart ready to listen.

FINANCIALS

We achieve our goal of helping at-risk and homeless teens by maximizing every dollar donated. Of every dollar given, 85 cents goes directly to helping teens in crisis.

This is confirmed through an annual independent financial audit review. Hope Harbor is 100% privately funded, with no government support. We rely solely on the generosity of donors to sustain our life-transforming services.
